

What is supervision?

Supervision is defined as ‘reasonable to ensure the protection of children’. It should be regular (with direct line of sight) and day to day.

If you are not confident about providing this level of supervision, then the individual should be deemed to be unsupervised and therefore in ‘Regulated Activity’.

It is not possible for two individuals to be classified as supervising each other with neither of them in ‘Regulated Activity’.

The supervisor must be in ‘Regulated Activity’ (and have the appropriate DBS check) for the supervision to be considered valid.
